Introduction to Potential Lenders, Buyers

MicroLoan Coin (MLC) Stable Currency

Main Benefits of MLC for Lenders, Buyers

MLC is the first of its class: the Growth Stable Coin. MLC uses a combination of features of both a stable coin and a traditional cryptocurrency. Both aspects create a value backed by financial assets and with other valued cryptocurrencies.

“Market potential: An estimated $1.5 trillion valuation coupled with 1.7 billion of unbanked people”

MLC is backed by current financial assets and combined by principal and interest earned by a transacted microloan, and the compound interest equation accelerates a high rate of return. Assets build and build. Funds generated from MLC token will be used to invest in financial projects that, in turn, further support and promote MLC. The mining is in the form of underwriting loans by fiat or by cryptocurrencies (future development), and the loan-trading transactions are the basis of proof of work. Anyone may purchase an MLC token or enact a loan stake in the increased value of the token choosing an interest-bearing reward from 365 days up to 5,555 days; which reward stake starts from 14% to 50% interest return.

Market Outlook

The overall market is targeted in key developing countries. These country markets total a demand of small business and entrepreneurial loans of up to $1.5 trillion and to an audience of 1.7 billion of the unbanked worldwide.
